

AJ Cortese

Senior Research Associate

AJ Cortese is a Senior Research Associate at MacroPolo, the Paulson Institute's think tank. In this role, AJ's research and analysis focuses on the political economy of technology in the US-China relationship, examining industrial policy, evolving supply chains, and human capital. His work analyzes China's strategic priorities in technology and the transition of its innovation ecosystem from internet-centric development to promoting deep tech and self-reliance.

Previously, AJ worked in Beijing as an analyst for 36Kr Global and ICR Inc., researching technology companies and investment trends in China. AJ holds a BA in economics from Fordham University and is pursuing an MBA from the University of Chicago. He speaks fluent Mandarin.